P&L Templates, Revenue Projections, and Pricing Calculators for Nutrition Services

About This Pack

Running a nutrition coaching business without financial visibility is like coaching a client without tracking their macros — you are guessing. This pack gives you the financial tools to run your nutrition program like a real business: a profit and loss template designed for nutrition services, a tax preparation checklist specific to food and nutrition businesses, expense tracking categories, quarterly business review templates, revenue projection models at three growth scenarios, a cost-per-client calculator, break-even analysis, and profit margin benchmarks by service type.

Print the templates. Fill them in monthly. Review them quarterly. The trainers who succeed in nutrition coaching are the ones who know their numbers — not just their clients' numbers.

Section 1: P&L Template for Nutrition Services

Use this template monthly. Fill in actual numbers. Compare against projections.

How to Read Your P&L

Gross margin above 60%: Your pricing and coach compensation are healthy. Focus on growing revenue. Gross margin 40-60%: Acceptable, but look for efficiency gains. Can EvoFit Meals reduce plan creation time? Are coaches spending too much time per client? Gross margin below 40%: Either your pricing is too low or your coach costs are too high. Address before scaling. Net margin above 30%: Excellent. Reinvest in marketing and team growth. Net margin 15-30%: Healthy for a service business. Look for

Section 5: Revenue Projection Model

Three scenarios for a 12-month projection. Fill in your actual inputs and calculate.

Inputs

InputYour Number Starting clients (Month 0) Monthly new client acquisition (conservative) Monthly new client acquisition (moderate) Monthly new client acquisition (aggressive) Monthly churn rate (conservative) Monthly churn rate (moderate) Monthly churn rate (aggressive) Average revenue per client$

Conservative Scenario (Low Acquisition, Higher Churn)

MonthNewChurnedActiveMRR 1$ 2$ 3$ 6$ 9$ 12$ Year 1 Total Revenue$

Moderate Scenario (Steady Acquisition, Average Churn)

MonthNewChurnedActiveMRR 1$ 2$ 3$ 6$ 9$ 12$ Year 1 Total Revenue$

Aggressive Scenario (Strong Acquisition, Low Churn)

MonthNewChurnedActiveMRR 1$ 2$ 3$ 6$ 9$ 12$ Year 1 Total Revenue$

Projection Rules of Thumb

- ☐ Acquisition rate is the growth engine. The difference between 3 and 8 new clients per month compounds dramatically over 12 months.
- ☐ Churn rate is the retention multiplier. Reducing churn by 3 percentage points (e.g., 15% to 12%) adds more revenue than acquiring 2 extra clients per month.
- ☐ Use the moderate scenario for planning, the conservative for cash flow, and the aggressive for fundraising or partnership pitches.

Section 8: Profit Margin Benchmarks by Service Type

Use these benchmarks to evaluate which service types to prioritize for growth. Service TypeTypical RevenueTypical CostTypical MarginNotes Basic meal plan (no coaching)$75-125/mo$25-40/mo60-70%Lowest touch, highest margin per hour Standard nutrition coaching$150-200/mo$50-70/mo60-65%Best balance of revenue and retention Premium coaching (weekly)$250-400/mo$100-150/mo55-65%Higher revenue but more coach time Training + nutrition bundle$75-150/mo add-on$25-45/mo65-70%Coach time is shared with training sessions One-off meal plans$100-300 one-time$40-8060-73%No recurring revenue — good for leads Group nutrition (per person)$50-100/mo$10-20/mo75-80%Highest margin — coach time divided across group Corporate wellness (PEPM)$15-200/mo PEPM$5-80/mo PEPM60-70%Volume-dependent; higher administrative cost Nutrition challenges$97-197 per participant$30-6060-70%Event-based; strong lead gen value Strategic insight: Group nutrition programs and basic meal plans have the highest margins. Premium coaching has the highest absolute profit per client. The optimal service mix depends on your growth phase:

- ☐ Early stage (0-20 clients): Focus on standard coaching and bundles — build recurring revenue.
- ☐ Growth stage (20-50 clients): Add group programs and challenges — scale without proportional coach hiring.
- ☐ Enterprise stage (50+ clients): Layer in corporate wellness and franchise models — volume plays with high margins.
